FAMILY EASTER TRADITION AT PRETTY PLACE April 11-12

Greenville, SC –Easter Family Camp is a unique opportunity for anyone to enjoy the YMCA Camp Greenville experience in a single weekend. Climbing, hiking, crafts and other traditional camp activities will be happening all day on Saturday, April 11. “The forest fire this spring at Jones Gap did not mar our lovely Symmes Chapel at Pretty Place or the magnificent views,” according to Susan Huter, Program Director at YMCA Camp Greenville. “Already the bluets, violets, hepatica and trillium are starting to bloom-- by Easter there will be an even greater display of wildflowers.”

“Activities are designed for all ages, so that families can do things together or individually,” said Huter. “Some planned activities are camp crafts, an Easter egg hunt, campfire, and broomball, as well as the much talked about Easter Sunrise Service at beautiful Symmes Chapel. There is also time to just kick back and relax.”

Enroll now, as space is limited. The cost is $160 for a family of four, which includes all activities, three meals and lodging ($30 for each additional person). To enroll, contact Susan Huter at (864) 836-3291 ext. 106, or email shuter@ymcagreenville.org.

YMCA Camp Greenville is located off Highway 276 at the North Carolina/South Carolina state line.

The YMCA of Greenville serves 60,000 people annually through programming that includes Afterschool and Day Camp, Aquatics, Youth and Adult Sports, Health and Wellness, and Youth Development. Programs are offered through four family branches, a year-round camp, three outreach facilities, and a Teen Center—the headquarters for South Carolina Youth in Government.
